Dear Sir:

DECLARATION OF SUZANNE KNOX
UNDER 37 C.F.R. §1.132

I, Suzanne Knox, being of legal age and sound mind, hereby declare as follows:

1. I am employed by PETsMART, Inc. as a purchasing agent and have been with the company five years. I have been employed in the pet industry five years.
2. PETsMART, Inc., is the nation's leading retail supplier of products, services and solutions for the lifetime needs of pets. The company operates more than 700 pet superstores in the United States and Canada as well as a large pet supply catalog business, and the internet's leading pet product website.

2. During 2004 I first became aware of a new pet product marketed by The Bramton Company under the mark "Pee Post." The product is a molded plastic yard stake with a decorative cap, and the plastic contains a substance having a scent that attracts pets, particularly dogs, to a yard area where the stake is inserted into the ground. Because the scent of the Pee Post yard stake encourages marking behavior, dogs are easily trained to eliminate near the stake.
4. As part of my responsibilities for PETsMART, each year I review approximately 2,000 new products that are shown or offered to us by representatives of various manufacturers. I am also generally aware of pet products offered for sale by many of our principal competitors. Except for the Pee Post yard stake made by The Bramton Company, I have never been shown and am not aware of any commercially available yard stake or similar pet product that is intended for use in training a pet to eliminate in a particular outdoor area.
5. The Pee Post yard stake has been well received by our customers, and our sales of the product during the past year make it one of our best-selling new products. Based upon my considerable experience in this industry, it is clear to me that Bramton's Pee Post yard stake is a commercially successful product and is meeting a longstanding need that was not previously being met by any other commercially available product of which I am aware.

Nothing further.

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true. I understand that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under 18 U.S.C. §1001 and may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.

Dear Sir:

SECOND DECLARATION OF SUSAN CRAWFORD POPE
UNDER 37 C.F.R. §1.132

I, Susan Crawford Pope, being of legal age and sound mind, hereby declare as follows:

1. I am the sole inventor named in the above-identified patent application. I am employed by The Bramton Company, a Texas corporation and the assignee of the subject application.
2. I have read and am familiar with the examiner's action for the subject application that was mailed January 4, 2005, and I understand that claims 1-16 and 18-22 as presented are rejected as reciting an invention that is obvious under 35 U.S.C. §103(a).

3. The Bramton Company markets the treated yard stake as recited in the claims of the subject application under the trademarks "Pee Post" and "Simple Solution."
4. Attached as Exhibit A to this declaration are eleven pages printed from an internet Google Search done on March 9, 2005, using the phrase "Pee Post" as the search term. As the search results show, my invention was being actively marketed or touted by others as of that date on at least the following web sites:

It will be apparent upon review of Exhibit A that some items have been redacted. No item was redacted that related to any product said to be useful for inducing pets to eliminate in a desired area.

5. The widespread attention and commercial success that the treated yard stake of the invention has received since its commercial introduction are indicative of both the long-felt need for such a product and the enthusiastic response of pet-knowledgeable consumers to the solution provided by my invention. This outstanding response has not been created by exceptional or extraordinary promotional efforts or by extensive advertising, and is instead attributable to the appeal and efficacy of the claimed product.

Nothing further.

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true. I understand that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under 18 U.S.C. §1001 and may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.
